

As a part of GEOLOG's corporate social responsibility program our Indonesia branch responded to the rapid weather changes that occur in the area. Jakarta City is experiencing increased rainfall in several areas which have resulted in major flooding. GEOLOG Indonesia worked with local government in the South Gandaria sub district to fulfill the need for rescue equipment essential in the rescue and evacuation process which include life jackets, ring buoys and megaphones to communities that were affected by flooding.

